OUR MISSION

St. Joseph's College is a university community established by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Edmonton and affiliated with the University of Alberta. The College is committed to discover, integrate, and disseminate truth, as revealed by God, discerned by reason, experienced in community.

To realize this mission, St. Joseph's College:

- o Offers Courses in Christian theology and philosophy to students enrolled in all University programs;
- o Celebrates God's blessing through Eucharistic liturgy and communal prayer;
- o Serves the University Community through campus ministry;
- o Creates an environment conducive to individual and group study and research;
- o Call forth involvement in all facets of student life;
- o Provides an on-campus residential experience for men; and
- o Seeks to further dialogue with the University and the wider community.

In this learning and living environment, St. Joseph's College strives to engage everyone in the experience of those human values that encourage a respect for all persons, promote social justice, service, and friendship and foster a desire for the truth that includes the sacred.

In 1926, under the leadership of Archbishop Henry Joseph O'Leary, a group of Catholics approached petitioned the Alberta legislature to incorporate a Catholic College to be affiliated with the University of Alberta. Under then president Henry Marshall Tory, the University ceded land and authorized the newly founded St. Joseph's College to teach courses in history and philosophy through the Faculty of Arts and Science.

For almost forty years, the College was led by the Christian Brothers. In the early days, it hosted the University's Faculty of Education in the east wing. During the war, RCAF recruits living in during training before going overseas. For many years, the College's residence and Newman club hosted lively social gatherings fondly remembered by our alumni to this day.

In 1963, with the administration assumed by the Basilian Fathers, St. Joseph's College began a period of growth in its academic life. Today, almost 1500 U of A students are enrolled in courses in undergraduate Christian theology, ethics, religious education, philosophy and a host of related disciplines.

In addition, the College continues to host an undergraduate residence for sixty men through the school year. The "Rangers" have great community spirit, and are champions in U of A intramural sports. The residence tradition stretching back to 1927 lives on.

Finally, St. Joseph's is the centre for Catholic Campus Ministry at the University of Alberta. Through its liturgical life, student retreats and socials, prayer groups and social service outreach, the College makes a significant impact on the spiritual lives of our Catholic young people at the University.

The mission of our planned giving committee is to see that the St. Joseph's tradition continues to prosper. By making a planned gift, you will help ensure the long-term growth of St. Joseph's, and the strength of Catholic education in Canada.

COLLEGE VISION

From its beginnings in 1926, St. Joseph's College was built upon the cornerstones of:

o Education
o Spirituality
o Social Justice
o Pursuit of Excellence

To continue our mission and live our vision, we need the spiritual and financial support from the entire community.
